3/23/2022 Forgiven but Unable to Forget– Chris Arundell

Chris Arundell will talk about his experience as a young boy in the Philippine Islands and being liberated by General Douglas MacArthur and the American Forces at the age of five and a half from Santo Tomas prison camp in Manila in the spring of 1945, after three years and two months of imprisonment with his mother, father and younger brother along with some four thousand, primarily, U.S. civilians, who were living and working in the Philippines, an American possession/territory, at the time.

3/30/2022 What Place is This? – W. Gudmunson and D. Berninger

The March 30th event will feature a presentation by Photographer W. Gudmundson and Historian D. Berninger entitled ;What Place is This Place;. These two Minnesota academicians will report on their project to rediscover and photograph forgotten historical events in southern Arizona, places we may drive by or even walk near where often dramatic moments occurred in the past. By bringing these events to light and recording them both textually and visually, it is hoped that those of us who live and visit here will have an enriched appreciation for our region. Gudmundson and Berninger will share what inspired them to undertake this five-year project and how they went about realizing it. A sampling of images taken from the larger project will be shown and the presentation will conclude with comments by each of how such a project is considered by both a photographer and an historian. The exhibit will be shown at the Tubac Center for the Arts from April 2nd until May 30th.
