Years ago, I did some research on the Bakke farm in Norway and found records going back to 1658. The book said "Oluf er brukar I 1658. Garden er kongens" or in English "Oluf is user in 1658. Farm is the king's.". In 1658 records listed 4 horse, 16 cows, 3 goats and 12 sheep. However, ten years later, there were only 4 horses and 26 cows. And in 1723, the farm had 3 horses, 22 cows and 10 sheep. By 1865, the farm had several locations and added pigs to their holdings.
